Communique Opposes Plan Of Local Algerian Voting

PARIS (AP)—French insurgents in Algeria threatened a break with Premier de Gaulle today as he strove to untangle France from a snarl of domestic and foreign problems.

A communique from the All-Algeria Public Safety Committee opposed his plan for local elections in Algeria within a month and demanded a housecleaning of political parties in France.

Would Junk Big Weapons Very Slowly

Macmillan Addresses Commencement; Desires Peace

BALTIMORE (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called today for a start toward building world peace through a "little by little" approach to discarding all big weapons—atomic and others.

Macmillan's speech was prepared for commencement exercises at Johns Hopkins University, where President Eisenhower was to introduce him as "a great free world leader." Both were given honorary degrees by the school.

Macmillan said the Western world alliance has served its purpose well and must be continued as a shield against Communist aggression.

"But I am not without hope," he said, "that we may succeed little by little, if not all at once, in making some progress toward the relaxation of tensions in the world."

Macmillan said it would be foolish to expect any summit meeting to bridge the gap between East and West.

He added, however, that "if conditions are favorable and if the will is there they might make, first, a little progress here, and then a little there and so bring us out of a condition of stalemate into one of negotiation."

But he said it can be done "only if both sides are willing. We on our side certainly are willing."

Macmillan said both the United States and Britain have rightly held that a beginning can be made in controlled disarmament of both nuclear and conventional weapons.

"Control is really the essence," he said.

"Once both sides agree to experiment in this we shall have really made a start. We will have established a beginning of confidence. And confidence means peace."

As he did in an address Sunday at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Macmillan urged lowering of trade barriers which restrict the flow of goods between countries.

Knob Noster Citizens Approve Assessment For School Addition

In a special election in the Knob Noster school district Monday an encouraging vote of 110 to 33 provided the go-ahead sign for a building tax which will provide a good quality addition to Knob Noster High School. The voting was conducted in the elementary school in Knob Noster.

This indicates the citizens' approval of a building tax of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Superintendent James E. Jageman said the labor costs are high but cannot be reduced. Even the lowest bid was above the available funds at the time. This affirmative vote will now provide the school system with an additional $24,000, bringing the funds available to pay for the work up to $216,258, or just $9.34 more than enough to pay for the addition.

The 75-cent tax will be for one year.

Ike Offers To Talk On Test Bans

Says Technical Talks Should Begin July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today proposed to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that technical talks begin July 1 in Geneva on methods of policing any possible future ban on nuclear tests.

The White House made public a letter from the President stating that the Swiss government has agreed to the Geneva site, which Eisenhower said would be preferable to Moscow.

Khrushchev, in agreeing to such talks, had suggested they be held in his own capital.

Eisenhower told the Russian Premier this government would not object to the inclusion of experts from Czechoslovakia and Poland on the Soviet side.

The Western Powers participating, he said, would be the United Kingdom, France, and possibly other countries in addition to the United States.

Eisenhower noted that Khrushchev has indicated the Soviet Union would not object to the inclusion of additional Western nations having experts in the field of nuclear test detection.

With respect to neutrals, Eisenhower told the Soviet Premier that "We have no objection in principle to their joining later in the discussion if it is agreed during the course of the talks that this is necessary or useful."

That might let such countries as India into the talks.

Eisenhower suggested that provision should be made for the talks to continue slightly longer than the three or four weeks which Khrushchev had suggested.

The presidential letter said: "These talks would be undertaken without commitment as to the final decision on the relationship of nuclear test suspension to other more important disarmament measures I have proposed."

Eisenhower's letter proposed that further details for the meeting be handled through normal diplomatic channels, thus terminating the top-level exchange of notes.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, here to confer with Eisenhower, had been informed of the contents of the reply.

New Bomarc Missile Successful in Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Another Bomarc missile, the nation's key air defense weapon, has streaked over the Atlantic in an apparently successful test.

The Bomarc launching yesterday was the latest in a series to develop the ground-to-air interceptor for operational status. More than 40 of the Boeing missiles have been fired from the Air Force test center since the program began.

City Streets Needing Care Are Listed

They Will Be Fixed Under 60-Cent Law; Named by Districts

The City Council at its recess meeting Monday night introduced five ordinances relative to the street situation in Sedalia. One ordinance called for assessing property owners 60 cents a front foot for repair work on streets and set aside four street districts. The other four ordinances named the streets in each district for a total of 35 miles of streets to be reworked.

District No. 1, as set up in the first ordinance, places the boundaries as north of Broadway to the city limits and west of Monticau to the city limits.

Streets named in that district are: Monticau, Pacific to Clay; Harrison, Broadway to Main; Prospect, Cooper to Henry; Quincy, Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks to Henry; Stewart, Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks to Henry; Stewart, Third to Main; Dundee, Third to Main; Gentry, Third to Main; Woodlawn Drive, State Fair Blvd. to State Fair Blvd. (Woodlawn Drive starts at Third and circles around to exit at the south near Seventh); Fifth, State Fair Blvd. to South Woodlawn; Second St. Terrace, State Fair to Gentry; Liberty Park Blvd., Gentry to 300 feet west of Park; Cooper, Park to Grand; Henry, Park to Prospect; Beacon, Broadway to Third; and Seventh, Warren to Barrett.

Air Force To Shoot For Moon in August

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, director of Air Research and Development Command, said today that the Air Force will "shoot for the moon" in August.

Anderson said in a news conference the Air Force would fire three "lunar probes" this year. The others are scheduled for September and October, he added.

He declined to disclose the size or weight of the payload the Air Force hopes to deliver. It will not be instrumented and will be intended simply to crash on the moon, he said, giving "some indication" of its arrival.

Three state rockets whose main power plants at takeoff will be modified Thor missiles will propel the projectiles over a 278,000 mile course to the moon in two and one-half days, Gen. Anderson said.

The vehicles will be modifications of military missiles, he added.

The Thor is a 1,500 mile range weapon. At least 13 have been test fired and of these at least five have been successful.

Gen. Anderson said that even if the rockets miss the moon, they will become "real interesting scientific satellites" because their elliptical orbits will carry them far out into space and possibly around the moon and earth in a sort of figure eight.

Anderson said the first attempt to fire an Atlas over its full designed range of 6,000 miles also would be made in August. "We have fired the last" of the over-weight, heavily instrumented a series intended for engine tests of the Atlas, he said.

An Atlas missile, or a Thor with appropriate later stages, would be capable of hoisting in to orbit a 3,000-pound artificial satellite like

First Week Is Concluded

Children's Center Sessions Aided by Volunteer Workers

The first week of the summer session of the Crippled Children's Center was concluded Friday with 22 new volunteer helpers joining the staff of the center for the first time.

Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the center, advised today that one of the most gratifying phases of the summer program is the fact that a large number of high school students and recent graduates are working at the center by assisting the permanent staff.

As an example of the fine cooperation by the community, Mrs. Swope pointed out that an entire Sunday School class from the First Baptist Church volunteered. The members of the class, which is taught by Mrs. Loren B. Hood, includes Sandra Ream, Judy Strain, Dorothy Payne, Kay Arquitt, Diane Ploughe, Jackie Peace, Marsha Evans, and Jan Arbogast.

Carol Hyatt, Glenda Reed, and Linda Reed, who assisted last year, were joined by Maxine Shoemaker, Joyce Evans, Ann Logan, Judie Warren, Connie Welch, and Jane Anne Jolly, other Sedalia students. Judy Franklin and Carylon Watkins, Smithton High School students, are also working at the center.

Mrs. John Neff, has accepted the position of supervising and teaching the kindergarten and pre-kindergarten groups for the ten-week summer session. Mrs. Neff has taught in the Smithton High Schools for several years and has a degree in elementary education.

Adult workers working at the center for the first time include Mrs. Harry Lambirth, Mrs. Katherine Lukacs, and Mrs. Ruth Ekstrom.

Adult volunteers continuing from the spring session into the summer program are, Mrs. L. J. Luckett, Mrs. Leta Sydenstricker, Mrs. Holly Jo Cantrell, Mrs. Charles Sebek, Mrs. L. J. Brown, Mrs. Pierre Lamy, Mrs. Tom Soter, Mrs. G. L. Haggard, Mrs. Tom Yount, Mrs. Cleo McCune, Miss Catherine Scott, Mrs. Bob Wells, Mrs. Gordon Fitch, Mrs. Warren Rensimon, Mrs. Georgia Collins Moon, Mrs. Everett Keele, Mrs. Roy Crouch, all of Sedalia, and Rev. Farrier, Green Ridge. Some of these workers have been working at the center since its inception in 1955.

Typists and other office helpers include Mrs. King Hyatt, Mrs. Shelby Hunter, Mrs. Fitch, and Mrs. D. H. Neiberger.

Alderman Agree on Move To Give Temporary Remedy

Streets was the purpose of the recess meeting held Monday night by the City Council, at which time five ordinances regarding street improvement or repairs were introduced for the first reading. These ordinances have to do with the 60-cent law of Missouri for third-class cities, of which Sedalia is one.

The regular meeting on Monday, June 2, was recessed until last night to give time to prepare the ordinance for introduction on 60-cent law, and to prepare and outline ordinances for introduction of the streets to be affected by the new ordinance.

Considerable discussion was given the proposal, with Councilman Woodrow Garrison, chairman of the Street and Alley Committee, explaining the 1958 program.

"The lack of petitions for street improvements," Garrison said, "has created an emergency in the street program. This delay has been caused by the interest of city council in desiring permanent streets, and property owners wondering about the type of streets and waiting to see what the outcome of an improvement program might be."

"For the past several days, in company with City Engineer and Councilman Swafford, we made surveys of the streets and found them in a deplorable condition. I believe the lack of information on the street program put out to the people has had many confused. As a result, they have been holding back waiting to see what solution the council and Mayor would come up with."

"As you probably know money for the street and alley operation comes from gasoline tax, parking meter tax and auto stickers, and at present this can't take care of the streets like it should," Garrison told the council.

Continuing he said, "the need for parking lots came up and we need them badly and I voted against that because of lack of finances. However, the parking lot program was started and we had to make $18,000 down payments on lots, and since have obligated $30,000 a year to be set aside to repay the revenue bonds before we get anything."

"Rising costs of materials, raises in salaries and goodness knows the city employees are underpaid now. It takes just as much for groceries, rent and living costs as anyone else and they are entitled to more. As a result we find (Please turn to page 2 column 4)

Fishing Trip Brings About Little Concern

Officials Are Aware Of Problem Arising From Ownership

The Sedalia city administration is showing little concern over the fishing expedition of Sedalia Times Publisher Stanton Hudson and a group of friends at Spring Fork reservoir Sunday.

In the first place, according to Mayor Abe Silverman, the administration has been aware of the situation ever since it was installed this spring, and has been working on the problem.

The controversy is a result of the switch of the Sedalia Water Co. from private ownership to city property. Under private ownership, certain persons were allowed to fish at the owner's discretion. Under city ownership, Hudson maintains, the reservoir is public property and if one individual is allowed to use the reservoir, then everyone should be allowed to use it.

On Monday Hudson said he wrote a letter to the water department asking the public be allowed to attend the regular meeting of the Sedalia Board of Public Works Tuesday evening. I. H. Reed, manager of the Sedalia Water Co., said the question of having the public attend the meetings had not been discussed, but that if an interested individual wanted to attend, he thought the board would permit him to do so.

Herman Bloess, chairman of the Sedalia Board of Public Works, said the water department has anticipated the controversy over recreational privileges at the reservoir, and through the city administration has been working with the State Division of Public Health on a plan whereby the public may make recreational use of the reservoir.

Mayor Abe Silverman said Monday that the necessary survey was being made to determine the proper manner in which to bring this recreational privilege about. He has written several Missouri cities, using impounded water as a basic city supply, for information concerning their recreation programs. He has received several replies and has written the Missouri State Division of Public Health, which maintains sanitary control over all public water supplies, and this division is compiling a set of rules and regulations which must be complied with if the public is to use the Spring Fork reservoir as a recreational area.

The mayor said that in spite of other pressing city problems, the administration has been working on the recreational problem at Spring Fork for several weeks. As soon as plans can be made, he said, the rules would be publicized and the area opened to everyone.

Says Ban on Testing Must Be Supervised In China, Elsewhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States probably would want international inspection posts within Communist China as well as elsewhere to police any agreement to ban nuclear weapons tests.

U.S. scientific experts have advised him that an adequate system to supervise test suspension would have to cover such areas as Communist China, Australia and the Sahara desert, Dulles told a news conference.

The meeting with newsmen came within an hour of the release of a letter from President Eisenhower to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev proposing that technical talks on how to police a test ban begin July 1 in Geneva.

Signs of Trouble Seen

Right Time Important In Control of Borers

By Merle Vaughan
County Extension Agent

Throughout the northern half of the state, European corn borers started laying eggs last week. In a good many fields, egg mass counts are running 250 to 325 per 100 stalks. Normally, 100 masses per 100 stalks is considered a good indication that trouble will follow.

Although there are a lot of moths flying, counts at the end of the week indicated that only about 60 per cent of the overwintering borers had emerged as moths. This means that egg laying will continue for another ten days or so.

During the next couple of weeks, there will be a lot of questions on corn borers, and here are some things to keep in mind:

1. The need for controls, as well as the timing of the insecticide applications, must be based upon leaf feeding scars and the extended height of the plants, not egg masses alone. Fields should be checked for egg masses, but egg counts will merely indicate those fields which must be watched closely for leaf feeding scars.

2. For several days after they hatch, the small borers feed on the leaves—usually in the whorls—before they start boring into the stalks. It is while they are still feeding in the whorls—before they get inside the stalk—that controls should be used.

3. In Missouri, we can usually get by with only one well timed application of insecticide for control. If the application is not timed right, a second one may be needed. Obviously, then, timing of the insecticide application is critical, and must be figured closely.

4. Don't count on an insecticide application killing borers for more than about seven days.

5. Since borer egg laying is strung out over a period of two weeks or so, it's obvious that one application of insecticide (which is another way of saying one seven-day period during which borers will be killed) will not get all the borers. It will get most of them, however, if properly timed. In figuring this timing, keep in mind that those borers hatching from the last 20 per cent of the eggs laid are much more damaging than the borers hatching from the first 20 per cent of the eggs laid.

6. All of which leads up to this: Don't get in too big a hurry to start using controls. We believe your best bet is to wait until 75 per cent of the plants show leaf feeding scars and the corn is 35 inches in extended height. If it is less than 35 inches extended, hold off treating until it is at least that tall.

7. We have noticed a lot of variance in the height of the corn plants within many fields. Where this unevenness exists, we suggest (Please turn to Page 2, Column 3) you wait until most of the plants—perhaps 75 per cent or so—are 35 inches or more in extended height before treating.

Right Time

8. Counts so far indicate borer numbers are down considerably in southern counties, but in those fields in that section where controls are needed, applications will be started this week. (June 9)

9. In the central section, counts indicate a big increase in borer numbers. It looks to us as though most treatment should be started in these areas during the week of June 16.

10. If a person is going to spray, we believe ground rigs only should be used. However, granules can be applied either by air, or by ground equipment. Granules applied by air are as effective as granules applied by ground rigs or spraying by ground rigs.

11. Again our control recommendations are as follows:

As a spray use one of the following—1. DDT at the rate of three quarts of 25 per cent emulsifiable concentrate (1.5 lbs actual DDT) per acre; 2. Endrin at the rate of one gallon of 19.5 per cent emulsifiable concentrate per 6.5 acres. This is approximately four ounces of actual endrin per acre.

As granules use one of the following—1. 20 pounds of 5 per cent DDT granules per acre; 2. 15 pounds of 10 per cent toxaphene granules per acre; 3. 20 pounds of 1 per cent endrin granules per acre; 4. 20 pounds of 5 per cent heptachlor granules per acre.

Follow all precautions given on the labels of the insecticide you decide to use.

12. We see no particular logic in a person investing in additional ground equipment which can be used to apply granules for the control of first brood borers only. You can get just as good control by spraying, and you can use the weed sprayer you already own. For the control of second brood borers, which show up late in July or early August, high clearance ground rigs or aircraft will be needed.

Garrison said in conclusion.

Mayor Abe Silverman then said that before the ordinance was called up for final passage which will be next Monday night, the public will be given the story.

Silverman explained the story will be told over KDRO-TV at 6:30 o'clock Monday night. At that time Councilman Garrison and the two members of his committee, Councilmen Harold E. Vogel and Earl Paxton, City Engineer Pat Barnard and himself will appear.

The Council meeting is to start at 7:30 o'clock, and Mayor Silverman requested the public to attend the Council meeting and express themselves pro and con on the ordinance.

"We hope the information that is being prepared for the television program will be sufficient," he said. "In the four ward meetings I called last month to discuss the street problems, I said then that before an ordinance connected with the street program is given final passage, the public will be informed. We are using this method to bring it to the public in a forum discussion, giving all of the points which make it necessary for the proposed street project."

Councilman Vogel took the floor and commended Councilmen Garrison and Swafford, along with Mayor Silverman, in connection with the survey made.

"I believe this is the best way out in getting this work done," he said. "I have looked at the prepared map of the engineer and the bad streets are marked in red, and I must say my ward has plenty of them. I, too, will also be affected but will gladly pay my share to get the street fixed in front of the two lots. I favor the plan."

Vogel explained the improvement will certainly help the property value. It is one way to get the streets repaired and out of the dust.

Councilman Swafford explained it has become a major problem. "We will scarify the streets, oil and spread chip stone and roll and it will give a temporary street. It will not be permanent, but it will last anywhere from a year and a half to five years, maybe longer. It is a start and the best we can do at such a low cost," Swafford said.

Councilman Pat Clark asked if the 60 cents was the limit, or would it be more or less. Mayor Silverman explained that according to the engineer's estimate, the cost to the property owner would no doubt run less, about 41½ cents per linear foot. He also explained there were some streets which would not need rock, while others that would be scarified would probably need some more rock.

Councilman Aubrey Case, remarked, "Every Councilman is rather reluctant to begin the program and should give the people a chance to remonstrate, but under the conditions the people will be pleased, or at least temporarily. There is a question in my mind. Will it encourage the people to go on and ask for permanent type streets? Or will people wanting a permanent type street be left out on this program? Some people, in some localities, cannot afford to pay for permanent streets and will this be within their means?"

Garrison then explained he felt everyone could afford this and went on to explain many streets have plenty of rock which was put down in the WPA days. Those people wanting permanent type of streets next year can begin petitioning now, so the 1959 program can be set up.

Case then remarked "We will always have people who can't afford to pay. Some in the minority are always hurt. Personally, I think the program, if they can do a good job, I will approve. If not, I would oppose."

Paxton then said the city would scarify the streets, clean the ditches and a contractor would be hired for the oil and chips and rolling.

Hausam then asked if the 60 cents per foot was to the middle of the street and on different width streets. Mayor Silverman answered it by saying the 60 cents is for the linear foot and to the middle of the street. He explained the Council members to talk with the property owners in cases where, when the ditches are cleaned and graded, there will be some wooden walks knocked out and some old pipes taken out. The property owners who have these should contact the engineer as to the changes to be made.

Garrison then moved the first reading of the ordinance.

The first ordinance is dividing the city into four districts. District No. 1 shall be all streets, avenues, alleys and public places which are north of Broadway and west of Montauk; District No. 2 shall be all streets, avenues, alleys, and public places, north of Broadway and east of Montauk; District No. 3 shall be all streets, avenues, alleys and public places, south of Broadway and east of Kentucky; District No. 4 shall be all streets, avenues, alleys, and public places south of Broadway and west of Kentucky; and providing for the annual sprinkling, oiling, repairing, surfacing and resurfacing of streets, avenues, alleys, and public places within said districts at a cost of not to exceed 60 cents per linear foot per year upon the property abutting upon any street, avenue, alley, or public place to be improved.

The ordinance provides further that the tax shall not be assessed against more than 350 feet of any one tract of land, and that tax bills shall be collected of and from owners of the land in the name of and by the city or contractor as any other claim in a court of competent jurisdiction, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum.

The other four ordinances named the streets in each district to be repaired under the first ordinance, if passed.

Bert Russell, 668 East 17th, requested the Council to give him the information as to how much the street work done previously in his area was to cost the taxpayers. The matter was referred to the city engineer, who reported he would have the figures and give them to him this week.

Cold Water On Permits

It took a "we dare you to put us out" challenge to jar the Sedalia Board of Public Works into consciousness that a policy of private ownership does not work so well under public ownership.

When the Sedalia Water Company was privately owned it was the manager's privilege to issue permits to fishermen to use Spring Fork Lake. Since the city bought the property over a year ago, the same practice prevailed except the newly created board of public works assumed most of the responsibility for issuing passes. This worked all right for a time until some refusals were made. Tempers started brewing until finally a defender of stultified democracy arose to throw down the gauntlet on the blue grass dam of Spring Fork Lake. He just climbed the fence to get there, fished contentedly, albeit armed with an umbrella in case of attack, and retired victoriously unmolested through a padlocked gate by simply removing it from its hinges.

The episode becomes historic in the annals of leading crusaders. But the end is not yet.

Sedalia's Board of Public Works can scarcely ignore the purpose of this challenge about issuing fishing permits to some and none to others. The man in the street calls this special privilege; and he doesn't like it. So when he figures he owns a share in the waterworks he has a right to fish there, same as anyone else. Or has he the right, yet? How about examining the purchasing compact with the bonding company?

The board of public works would probably like to make the large Spring Fork acreage a recreational area of sorts. Actually there have been inquiries made elsewhere on how other cities have gone about this procedure with city owned water property. All of which costs money and considerable planning and time. There are numerous ways to create and operate such a project, maintain it by charging admissions, etc. Initially it appears as a stupendous undertaking, yet the possibility is there to make the Spring Fork area a recreational spot for use of the public. One thing certain—as a source of Sedalia's water supply—the place must be kept in first class sanitary condition under all circumstances.

In the meantime, the board of public works must abandon the permit practice and consider whether or not it is wise to open the area for fishermen. If so, this would seem like just another demonstration of special privilege. The next howl would come from those who don't give a hang for fishing but like to go boating, those who like to hunt, those who like to bird watch, to take pictures, swim or picnic. Somebody else may just want to tree-sit or chase butterflies. This puts us on the brink of the silly season.

Sedalia's board of public works will probably administrate the permit plan as it deems best, but initial judgment indicates the members would be better off to live in peace with the demanding public by just abolishing the permit system and closing the area for public use until such time as the place is prepared to receive one and all, a couple or ten thousand at a time. This is more democratic—and even the republicans may go along with it.

Awaiting a momentous decision, let's everybody take it easy and not start a revolution.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Prospecting For Envoy To De Gaulle

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The American who knows General DeGaulle best and who could best swing him toward better cooperation with the U.S. is Anthony Drexel Biddle, former tennis star, now Adjutant General of Pennsylvania. When Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt were snubbing De Gaulle, Biddle was one of the few Americans who went out of his way to win De Gaulle's friendship.

Biddle, then stationed in London, was Ambassador to the Governments-in-Exile from Poland, the Netherlands, Belgium, Norway and other occupied countries. At first he did not represent the French, but sent a cable to Roosevelt: "Unless I hear from you to the contrary within 24 hours I shall assume that my mission also includes the exiled government of France." Thereafter, he also became Ambassador to De Gaulle. De Gaulle was kept so in ignorance of allied operations that he did not even know British and American troops were landing in North Africa until he read it in the newspapers. Biddle found him sincere, sensitive, stubborn on little things, not on big things; completely courageous.

Note — Biddle served as aide to Eisenhower when Ike was head of SHAPPE in Paris. He is a Democrat. Since Ike is appointing few Democrats to Ambassadorships, it's doubtful that he would send Biddle to France.

Socialite Sluggers
Franz Szuzina, middleweight boxing champion of Germany, was being quizzed by Washington socialites about the pugilistic profession. He was in the nation's capital for a bout with Joey Giardello for the benefit of Big Brothers.

"How do you feel toward the man opposite you in the ring? Do you get mad when he lands one on you?" The young German was asked.

"No," Szuzina replied, "you don't get mad. You can't afford to get mad. You want to win. After it's over you shake hands."

"Which would you rather fight in — the boxing ring or the social ring of Washington where people really get mad?"

"In Washington," added beautiful Mrs. Gwen Cairitz, herself an arbiter of Washington society, "they shake hands but don't speak."

Anonymous Lobbies
An up-to-date investigation of lobbying in the nation's capital is long overdue. The silky-voiced gentlemen hired to influence votes in Congress and contracts in the Pentagon are supposed to register with the Justice Department, but more and more of them are finding loopholes in the law.

One loophole is to distribute anonymous literature. Latest illustration is a neatly bound book received through the mails by Congressmen from "The Long House," a publishing firm in New Canaan, Conn. It is titled "Mainline" and

New Soviet "Crime"

In America we've always put great store by local interests, in whatever field. We figure people at the local level know their own problems best, can handle them best, and are generally entitled to the fruits of their efforts on the home scene.

We think the local approach is the heart of democracy in politics and of free enterprise in economics.

And what of the Soviet Union, self-styled protector of the human masses?

There you will find that individual localities are mere squares of tile in the mosaic of the state. They exist, as do the people, for the totalitarian whole.

Executives who fail to ship goods from their areas for the use of other regions or for export are guilty of "localism" and "local tendencies." This is a crime, punishable by heavy fine and disciplinary action.

In Russia, plainly, it is a crime even to try to be free.

Dulles Presents Another Sunny Picture

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles—the driver of our foreign policy bus—likes to stay on the sunny side of the street that leads to happy boulevard.

He wears optimism like a vest, buttoned tight. True, he has some gloomy moments. But they don't last long. And he seldom finds anything wrong with his own roadmanship.

It was a rather sunny account of our foreign policy that he gave the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week. He listed a number of things we're doing to make our problems come out right.

"I see," he said, "a prospect that provides good ground for hope. We are not being tossed about rudderless on a sea of change. We are guiding and influencing the character of change."

He conceded "our record is not perfect" and added: "We have no doubt some things we should not have done and not done all that we should have done." But he didn't mention any errors by name.

And he didn't say anything about such recent setbacks as the stoning of Vice President Nixon in Latin America, or the growing anti-Westernism in the Middle East, or the fact the Soviets are out in front with missiles.

Instead he turned to what he called the "Communist balance sheet" and found it didn't balance because the Soviet problems are simply "insoluble."

Only six of the committee's 15 members were in their seats to hear Dulles' comforting thought that things look pretty good for the West, pretty sour for the Soviet Union. And only four of the six sat through the whole explanation.

Dulles has had some unpleasant moments with this committee whose members have heard him say one thing one time and what appeared to be just the opposite the next time.

For instance, he must have been having one of his gloomy periods back in December 1955, when he said:

The Soviet zigzag policy seemed ended; they were opening dangerous new roads in the cold war; there was a rebirth; and they might be getting more confident because they were stronger.

But two months later, in February 1956, he said the Soviet leaders had to ditch Stalinism; their policy of "intolerance and violence" had failed because of free world firmness; and the Soviets were in a "very bad way."

Those Ebullient Senators

Solons Can Be Human During Off Duty Hours

By Joseph A. Dear

Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Theodore Francis Green, who at the age of 90 is the eminent bachelor of the Senate, recently delivered the commencement address at the Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio.

His subject "Women's New Role in the World."

Anyone who has followed Estes Kefauver on his frenetic quests for the Democratic presidential nomination knows his rather sleepy appearance obscures the fact that he is a bundle of energy.

In fact, the Tennessee Senator is always on the look out for time saving short cuts. For example, he usually skips his morning coffee while driving to the Senate Office Building, as one hitch-hike reporter discovered.

Kefauver pulled up to the bus stop, and offered the newsmen a lift. "Here," said the Senator, "hold this coffee for me, will you?"

The Senator thereupon handed the reporter a glass of recently liquified steam, and in the process the insulating paper napkin slipped.

A barely suppressed scream of pain. Coffee slopped on a fresh suit.

"Good coffee," the Senator remarked a moment later, after finishing off the remainder. "Here, stick the glass in the glove compartment, will you?"

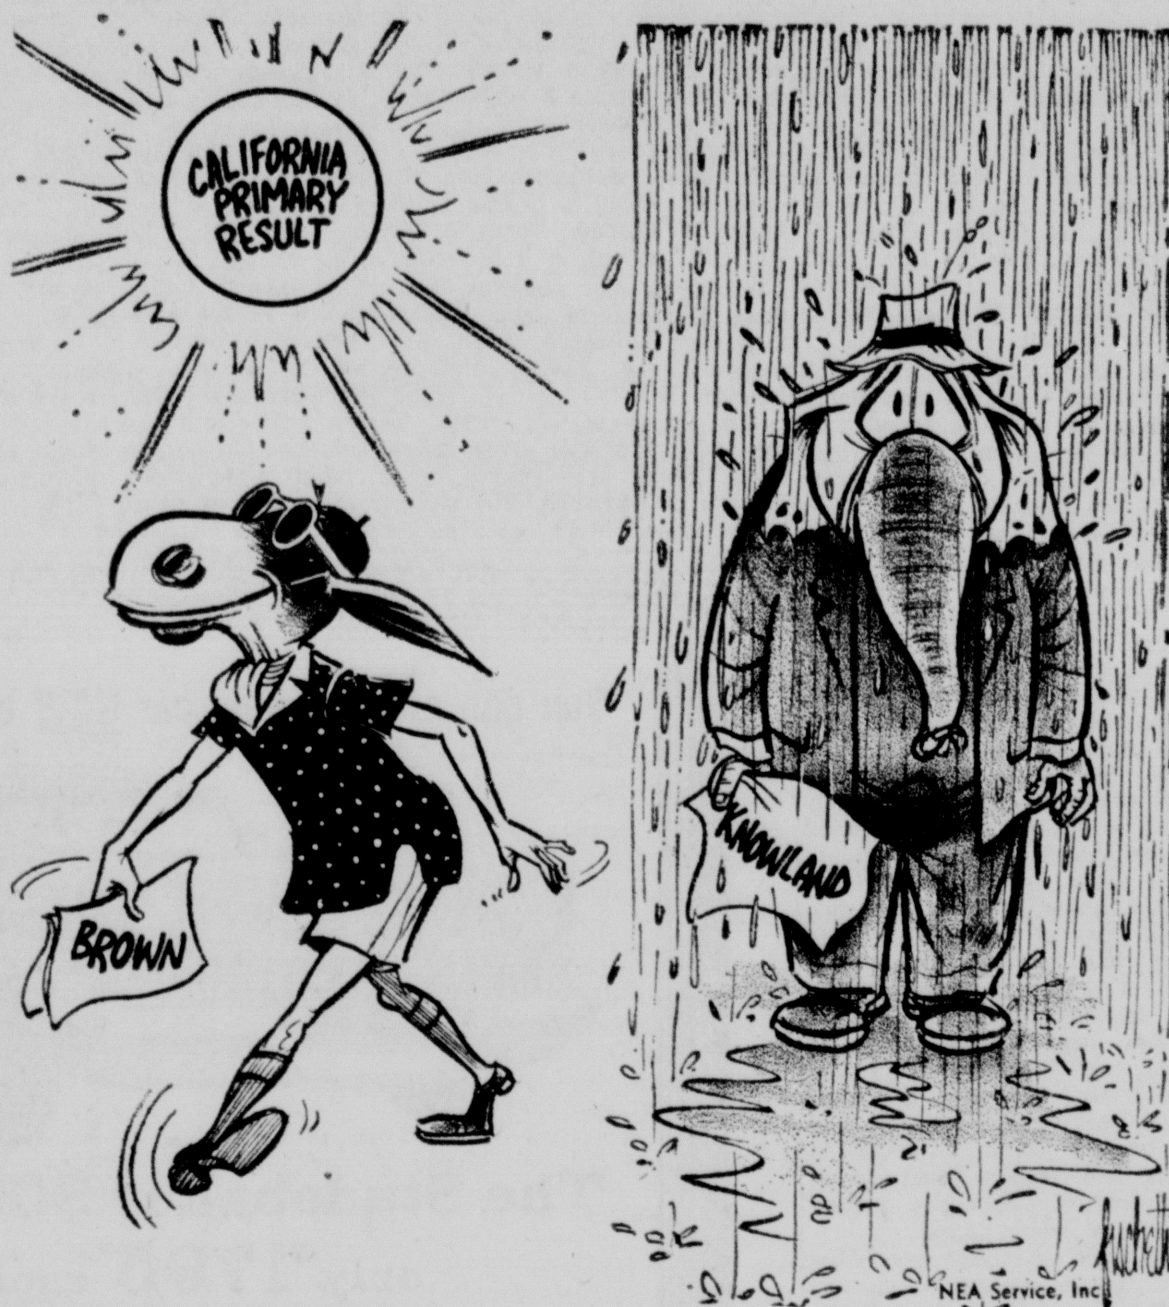

His passenger did, after first retrieving the dirty glasses that tumbled from the compartment when he opened it.

Why do they ever run for the Senate?

John Williams, Republican of Delaware, has an answer.

"Had a chance," he said, "to run for the House or Senate. Looked at them both, and decided to run for the Senate because I knew I could never speak my mind in three minutes."

New Speed Law Halts Number of Speeders

The average speed of passenger cars in Missouri hasn't changed a great deal since the enactment of the new speed law but the number of cars travelling 70 and over has dropped considerably.

A survey taken by the state highway department and the highway patrol shows that before the speed limit went into effect in September, 1957, passenger cars averaged 59.5 miles an hour. After the law became effective, the average dropped to 58.9 miles an hour.

The sampling was taken on undivided Highway 40 west of Columbia and divided U.S. 66 east of Rolla.

The survey showed that before the speed law, there was a monthly average of 410 cars travelling more than 70, some 60 cars more than 80, and eight travelling more than 90. After the speed law, the monthly average of those above 70 dropped to 278, more than 80 to 25 cars and those going more than 90 to four. The survey indicated strongly that the number travelling more than 70 have dropped by at least half.

The decrease is also reflected in the decreased number of automobile fatalities. Every month of 1958 except May has had fewer fatalities than the similar months in 1957 — pre-speed law months. May, 1957 produced 82 fatalities. May, 1958 was a bad month with 94 highway deaths.

Lt. F. W. Shadwell, patrol information officer, blamed multiple fatality accidents for the tragic record for this May. May, 1958 saw nine accidents in which more than one were killed. In May, 1957, there were only five multiple fatality accidents.

Water Pollution Agency Ready For First Action

A survey of Shoal creek and Turkey creek in Southwest Missouri is the first action to be taken by Missouri's new water pollution board set up by the 69th General Assembly last year.

The six member, non-partisan board was recently appointed by the governor. Members are Harvey A. Jones, Independence, chairman; Raymond Krebs, Springfield, vice chairman; Harry H. Hilliker, St. Louis; A. Perry Phillips, Columbia; J. Marshall Thompson, DeSoto, and Freeman R. Johnson, Joplin. The members respectively represent the general public, recreation, industry, agriculture, mining and municipal interests.

Jack Smith, former chief of water pollution control for the division of health, has been named executive secretary of the new board which has clearing up Missouri's lakes and streams as its chief objective.

Smith said Shoal and Turkey creeks were chosen for the first survey because they represent several pollution problems. Domestic and industrial wastes are dumped into them where clean streams are important to recreation. The survey will evaluate pollution and then the board will seek correction of excessive pollution.

Smith said the Shoal-Turkey creek survey would be comprehensive, with fish and wildlife experts from the conservation commission, biologists, sanitation experts and health department engineers taking part. It will follow the streams from their source to the Kansas line. Joplin, Neosho, Monett and Pierce City now use the two streams to carry away treated sewage.

Smith noted that the pollution board's main job will be to clean up the Missouri and Mississippi rivers. He said the bulk of Missouri cities have sewage treatment plants with the exception of large population centers on the two large rivers.

Cities on the two rivers which according to Smith, do not have adequate sewage treatment plants include St. Joseph, Kansas City, Liberty, Lexington, Brunswick, New Franklin, Boonville, Jefferson City, Washington, St. Charles, Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Canton and Louisiana. Smith said Hannibal is the only major city on the Missouri-Mississippi to have an adequate sewage treatment plant.

Other Missouri cities without sewage treatment facilities are Webb City, Princeton, Doniphan, Poplar Bluff, Flat River and Newberg.

After October 1, Smith said the water pollution board will require permits for construction or alteration of sewage treatment plants and for discharging sewage into streams.

State Employees Like To Work?

Employees of the state government frequently complain about low salaries and the like but they actually must enjoy their jobs.

A few years ago, Missouri government workers banded together to promote a state employee retirement system. Now, many state employees fight to avoid retirement.

Ben F. Meyer, secretary of the retirement board, said 660 state workers between 65 and 70 years old are eligible for retirement, as of June 30. Of that number, he said 290 have asked to be kept on the payroll for periods ranging from a few months to a year. Three of those eligible are appointive officers and 19 are elected officials and, therefore, not subject to retirement until the end of their terms.

Five employees more than 70 have been granted dispensation from retirement for two to six months. They are Otis Henry Storey, division of insurance; Thomas D. Shriver, secretary of state's office; George Keller and Albert Davis, state auditor's office, and Sig Ney Dugan, agriculture department.

Storey is working on the insurance department's annual report and Keller and Davis are engaged in county audits. They will stay on the payroll until their projects are completed. Shriver and Dugan will be retained until replacements are found.

Meyer said that on June 1, there were 17,316 state employees under the retirement system. Highway patrolmen and state highway department employees are under a different retirement set up as are supreme court judges. Up to June 1, there had been 784 retirements under the new system. The highest pension check is about $160 and the lowest around 34 cents. The state pension is designed to supplement social security payments.

Ruralist Editor Talks At County Gathering

The Missouri Ruralist, according to the editor, Cordell Tindall, was founded in Sedalia in 1902 by Matthew Carroll and was published here until 1910, when it was purchased by Arthur Capper, and it has since been published in Topeka. He went on to say that the first cover picture on the publication was of a frame building at the Missouri State Fairgrounds, and he believed it was the one later used as a hospital that was moved last year to another part of the grounds for the speed headquarters.

Cordell Tindall, Fayette, was the speaker Tuesday night at the recognition banquet for Pettis County Farm and Home Planning families at the First Methodist Church.

Many things have happened, Tindall said, since this paper was first started in Sedalia. It is a challenge to keep up with the changing events. He stated that the family-sized farm will become bigger, but the big corporate farmer will not take over.

Tindall told of large scale hog operation which he said needed a good skilled livestock operation for assembly line farming. Farming, he told the group, has not reached the point where management is not needed.

Balanced Farming is the best answer to bigness for the family sized farm. Small farms are more limited to labor available, and too few are getting returns for their management.

He raised the question of how farmers can get better returns from management and stressed the point that overall efficiency is the best answer available to the farmer.

Livestock handling, Tindall said, is becoming more mechanized, as has been the grain farming for some time.

Bigness, he explained, is not merely a matter of acres. He speculated on whether bigness will take over the dairy business. The profits may be up with a one-man operation, but as it grows it requires more operations and when bigness comes new problems arise.

Tindall expressed the thought that he believed the best answer is balanced farming. It is a coordinated plan to make the greatest use of the resources available. The hope, he said, for a better way of life is attitude. The highest standards of living are in the suburbs of the city right now, and he told the group he would like to see farm families have more of the high standards of living. He urged good management of the farm and not one of disarray of farm machinery and smelly things around the farm. Tindall recalled the old squire of the rural districts and said he would like to see a bunch of old squires in the country.

Balanced farming is a sound approach, he said, with family-sized farms, not corporate farming.

The speaker was introduced by Merle Vaughan, county agent. Cloyce Wilson served as master of ceremonies and invocation was given by Mrs. Loy Smith.

A quartet composed of Paul Neitzert, Floyd Egbert, Orin Chappell and Leonard Knoernschold, sang several songs, with Mrs. Floyd Egbert as accompanist.

Guests introduced were county judges and their wives: Judge and Mrs. Frank Monroe, Judge and Mrs. E. L. Birdsong, Judge and Mrs. C. M. Purchase, Berry Elliott, candidate for presiding judge; Milton Overstreet, Pettis County representative in the Missouri legislature; Mrs. Floyd Egbert, substituting for Mrs. Bill Corlew as contact woman between the Home Economic Council and the County Agriculture Extension Council; Mrs. John Wall, contact woman between Farm and Home Planning and the County Home Economic Council; machinery dealers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Root and Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey Jr.; seed store, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Karigan; executive Extension Council members, Willard Hall, vice president, and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Lester Patrick, secretary, and Mr. Patrick, Carl Reines, board member, and Mrs. Reines; related agricultural agencies in Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mergen, Production Credit, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, ASC office, Perry Eddie, Federal Land Bank, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hanley.

The Progress Awards were then presented to the Farm and Home families present by C. L. Hanley, vice-president of the Third National Bank. The awards are made available by the Missouri Bankers Association in cooperation with the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service. The husband and wife of each family were asked to come forward to the head table as Lloyd Lewellen, associate county agent, gave a summary of accomplishments of each family as they were presented their awards.

Farm and Home Planning is balanced farming in Pettis County, and applications are made by families to their community group chairmen: Prairie, Jack Alfrey; Longwood, Jack Stephens, Smith-ton, Cloyd Merk; Green Ridge, Mrs. Floyd Egbert; and Lake Creek, George Teter.

A short summary for organization of the Farm and Home Planning Program was given by Merle Vaughan.

The committee arranging for the banquet was composed of Mrs. Jack Alfrey and Paul Neitzert.

OVERSEAS — Pvt. Duane R. Sterling, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sterling, California, arrived in Heidelberg, Germany on May 22nd where he has been assigned for duty. He is in the adjutant General's Division office which handles personnel assignments for the European Command. He will be stationed there for two years. Duane has recently completed the basic Army administration course at Ft. Leonard Wood. He entered the Army in November, 1937, and completed his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood. He graduated from the California High School in 1935, and then attended Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield.

Delinquency, Streets Discussed at Meeting Of Community Council

The Negro Community Council held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Dr. A. R. Maddox, 509 West Johnson, with Carl Abbott, president, presiding.

The various committees made their regular reports.

The condition of the city streets were discussed at some length and the council is looking forward to the newly appointed city engineer doing something about the streets in the near future.

The Broadway improvement foreman has been contacted concerning employment and his policies. There seems to be no need for more help as all have been hired that are needed at the present time.

"The Discouragement of Juvenile Delinquency" was discussed and at this time the community recreation questionnaires were passed out. From all indication members believe such a program would be an asset to Sedalia in many ways.

During the social hour that followed Mrs. A. R. Maddox and daughter served refreshments.

George Renno Ends Maintenance Course

Army Pfc. George T. Renno, whose wife, Lois, lives at 1613 East Seventh, recently completed the vehicle maintenance course at the Army European Engineer-Ordinance School in Murnau, Germany.

Renno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Renno, Route 2, Nelson, is regularly assigned as a mechanic in Headquarters Company of the 4th Armored Division's 35th Armor, Erlangen, Germany.

The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in May, 1937, and was stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex., before arriving in Europe in December, 1937.

He was graduated from Nelson High School in 1933 and attended Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg.

Nursing at Whiteman Is an Interesting Job

Mrs. Gertrude Dorsey Berlin, had her mind all made up what her profession was going to be. In Sedalia, so was her husband. She went to Kansas City where and all of their four children, she took nurses training graduating from St. Theresa's College, department of Nursing, which at that time was St. Joseph's Hospital Training School for Nurses. Since graduation she has had graduate work at the University of Minnesota, Peabody College at Nashville, Tenn., and the University of Missouri.

Her work since graduation has been as staff nurse at the Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, Southeast Missouri Hospital, Cape Girardeau, public health nurse for the Metropolitan Insurance Co. in Sedalia, Nashville, Tenn., and Columbia. She came back to Sedalia and had private duty as staff nurse at Bothwell Memorial Hospital, leaving there to become staff nurse at the air base hospital.

"Naturally," says Gertrude, "I am a member of the Missouri State Nurses Association and the American Nurses Association." She has held offices in District 10, of which Pettis County is a member, has served on the Missouri State Board and on the program committee of the national organization. Too, she has just consented to the request to have her name placed on the ballot of the general duty section of the American Nurses Association.

Gertrude is a past president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club but hasn't been as active lately in the club as she would like to be because of irregular assigned hours at the Base Hospital. For the same reason she hasn't been able to be active in Girl Scout work as she used to be.

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

When is a child old enough to have an examination made of eyes and vision? This is a question optometrists are being asked with greater frequency as parents become more aware of the important role vision plays in the child's development.

The answer to this question is best answered by the fact that optometrists all over the country are reporting many more children being brought for examination in the pre-school years—some as early as their second and third year of age.

Vision specialists are noting problem conditions developing earlier than in former years. Many children coming for examination in their first or second school year are already myopic or border line myopes. Many others have not learned normal skill in fixation—focus—release and projection patterns while others have faulty eye and hand co-ordinations.

Optometry has developed many methods of improving visual skills and there is no better time than the pre-school years for examination, preventive and corrective training. You can give your child a head start by having a careful, analytical examination made at four or five, followed by periodical re-examinations to note progress and change at least once each year thereafter.

To all parents of children who will enter kindergarten or first grade this fall, the Missouri Optometric Association offers this earnest advice. Arrange now for a careful examination of the child's eyes. You will not only help to avoid the congestion that occurs in the late summer and early months of the school year, but if preventive or corrective work is needed, your child will be better prepared when school opens.

AMERICAN RAILROADS

COMPETITION

Much has been written in recent months about the plight of the railroads.

Congress was so concerned that Senate and House transportation committees held exhaustive hearings to determine the cause and find a cure for the problem. Representatives of shipper associations and all transportation and government agencies were heard.

Briefly and principally the Congressional committees came to this conclusion: Too much government regulation of the railroads as contrasted with the other agencies of transportation. The committees proposed a number of changes in the law that will materially correct this unfair situation.

One of the principal proposals would permit the railroads to exercise their inherent advantage as the low cost, volume transportation carrier by pricing their only commodity—transportation—in competition with other carriers so long as their rates return a profit and do not discriminate between shippers and markets.

These conclusions, which we believe are sound and in the public interest, are now before the Congress.

If you believe in justice and fair play, write your Senators and Congressmen to support the transportation legislation now before the Congress.

Teams Travels To Columbia Tonight

Three Firms Combine To Back Sedalia Semi-Pros This Season

With the best backing enjoyed by any semi-pro baseball club for many years in Sedalia, the Athletics — as yet not renamed — are in the midst of getting player personnel conditioned for the heavy schedule which faces the club during the remainder of the summer.

Sponsorship details were completed Monday with three leading Sedalia firms combining to underwrite the team during the coming season. With Vint Siegel handling the managerial duties, the team is sponsored by the Mid-Mo Electric Company, located on South 65 Highway; the Owen General Tire Company, located at 701 South Ohio; and Hammis Beer, Jim Dickman distributor, Aubrey Owen owner of the Owen General Tire Company, and the management of Mid-Mo Electric Company agreed to help back the team Monday and Dickman came into the fold Saturday.

Although the rough spots are still apparent in both the defensive and offensive alignments, the Sedalia will attempt to glue together a solid squad during the coming week as they face three tough foes in the rugged Missouri Valley ABC League. Tonight the A's travel to Columbia to take on VFW, the state semi-pro champions of 1957.

Columbia, off to a slow start, has dropped its only two league encounters so far. The VFW club bowed to Stan Adrain's Jefferson City Redbirds, 8-5, and dropped a ten inning affair to the much improved Mexico Builders, 4-3. Right-hander Hank Steere, ace of the Columbia hill staff, is expected to face the A's. Siegel indicated Monday night that he will go with Elroy Burton, a righthanded curveballer who toiled for the Ban Johnson Chiefs last season. Jim "Salty" Schumaker is slated to be behind the plate for the locals.

On Thursday night the A's will make their debut before the home

McCown Takes Mound For Sedalia Tonight; BJ's Host to Marshall

Merle McCown is slated to get the mound assignment tonight for Manager Bill Arnold's Ban Johnson Chiefs who host the Marshall BJ's at Liberty Park. Game time is 8 p.m.

The hefty fireballer, inactive during the past season, had a major problem in working into condition for diamond activity this year. Relieving for Lefty Jack Satterwhite against Lexington on Sunday night — and preserving the win — he appears ready.

A victory is almost a must for the Chiefs. The Holden Chiefs, managed by Stub Roberts — and paced by Roberts' son, Mike, a lefthander — have racked up five straight opponents in the Western Division of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League. The Sedalia have scored winning verdicts in two of three efforts thus far.

KC Athletics Sign MU Hurler to Club

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ernie Nevers, a 22-year-old University of Missouri righthander who pitched the Tigers to five victories without a setback this spring was signed by the Kansas City Athletics.

Last summer with Moose Jaw in the Western Canadian Semi-pro league, Nevers compiled a 15-3 record.

He is from Kansas City and will report Wednesday to the Class B Rochester, Minn., club, an affiliate of the A's in the Triple I League.

Willie's Bat Was Hot, Now Cooling Down

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Holy smoke! Lookit Willie! Just four days ago nobody could get Willie out. He was 7-for-7, and 16-for-19, gaining 26 points and taking the National League batting lead at .433.

He hasn't had a hit since, going 0-for-12, losing 25 points and tumbling back to .408, almost where he was when the spurt started.

Willie didn't do the San Francisco Giants much good yesterday, going 0-for-4 in a 3-0 defeat as once-beaten Bob Purkey won his eighth for Cincinnati in the only game scheduled.

The defeat, their ninth in 13 games, trimmed the Giants' first place edge over Milwaukee to half a game and .003 percentage points while the Redlegs took full charge of third place, 3 1/2 games back.

In the American League, Boston moved within .003 percentage points of second-place Kansas City by whipping Detroit 9-4. Baltimore defeated Cleveland 5-2. Rain postponed the only other game scheduled, with the Chicago White Sox ahead 7-1 in the fourth inning at Washington.

Purkey, a right-hander who never has had a winning season in the majors, won his fifth in a row with a six-hitter. He walked none and struck out three.

A two-run homer by Steve Bilko, his fourth, wrapped it up for the Redlegs in the fourth against southpaw Johnny Antonelli, now 5-4. The Reds also had six hits.

Little LEAGUERS

Little League fans saw a top notch game Monday night between the Optimist Club and the Jaycees in which two errors switched victory. The Optimists came through to win 4 to 1.

Golf on the mound for the Optimists was opposed by Fletcher Gravitt for the Jaycees, both pitching excellent baseball for their clubs.

But for those two fatal errors in the first inning by the Jaycees, it possibly would have been a 1-0 game for the Jaycees.

The little players worked like professionals on the diamond and played a type of baseball which the fans would expect to see from boys many years older.

The second game in the Little League park was lopsided and went to the Sedalia Ice with ease over the American Legion Post 16 team. The Ice took advantage and ended up with a 38-0 victory.

Over in the Housel Park Little League competition the crowd was treated to an exciting game between the Optimist "B" and the Jaycees "B" teams. The Optimists

Bob Purkey Has Not-So-Simple Success Formula

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Purkey, one of the two winningest pitchers in the National League this season, has a not-so-simple success formula.

Play with a team that gets runs and has a flawless infield. Keep your control and stay lucky.

That's the combination Purkey credits for his record of eight victories and one defeat for the Cincinnati Redlegs. Only Milwaukee's Warren Spahn can match it.

Purkey, with the help of strong Steve Bilko, stopped the league leading but fading San Francisco Giants 3-0 Monday. The loss left the Giants ahead of Milwaukee by a measly three percentage points as the rest of the league rested.

Cincinnati moved into third place, 3 1/2 games off the pace, beating the Giants three out of four.

A crowd of 10,350 saw Purkey, a 6-2 right-hander toss a six-hitter. Bilko powered a two-run fourth inning home run, his fourth of the season.

Purkey struck out only one batter — Willie Mays, no less — but did not walk a man.

"Control is one of my better points," he said after the game. "I walked only 38 in 180 innings at Pittsburgh last year and I always try to make the other club beat me instead of me beating myself."

He credits his 1958 success to "getting runs, pitching regularly, the best infield in the league and luck."

Akins Offered Match To Defend new Title

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Virgil Akins has been offered his first bout since winning the welterweight championship, his manager Eddie Yawitz said.

Yawitz said Los Angeles matchmaker Jack Laken has offered Akins a $10,000 guarantee to defend his title against Harold (Babyface) Jones in Los Angeles late in August.

It's when the Red Sox hit the road that they hit the skids. And they take off again a week from today.

After last night's 9-4 victory over Detroit, the Red Sox now are in a virtual tie for second place. They're just .003 percentage points behind Kansas City, and both are 7 1/2 games behind the New York Yankees.

Baltimore defeated Cleveland 5-2, and a 7-1, fourth-inning lead by the Chicago White Sox was wiped out by rain at Washington in the only other games scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati took full charge of third with a 3-0 victory over first-place San Francisco in the only game scheduled.

The Red Sox, 18-10 (.643) in friendly Fenway Park and 9-14 (.391) on the road so far, got the job done in a six-run third inning triggered by Jensen's three-run homer.

It was the big belter's fifth in seven games and 14th of the year, one behind AL leader Bob Cerv of Kansas City. He also trails Cerv's leading runs-batted-in total of 45 by one, after knocking in four last night while adding a double and single to the homer.

Frank Sullivan won his third against a lone defeat, giving up nine hits and blanking the Tigers on two over the last five innings. Paul Foytack (5-5) gave up seven runs on seven hits in his 2-3 innings for the Tigers, who dropped back into the league cellar.

Gus Triandos slugged his 12th homer, with two on, in the first for the Orioles, who rode in on the four-hit pitching of Billy O'Dell. In the last 8 1-3 innings, the 25-year-old southpaw faced only 26 men, one over the minimum, and allowed only two singles after giving up the Cleveland runs on J. W. Porter's two-out double in the first. Cal McLish (2-3) was the loser for the Indians.

The White Sox collected their seven hits off Al Cicotte and Chuck Stobbs. Tito Francona hit a home run.

ADCO, McCowns Win In Monday Baseball

Two Babe Ruth League games were played at the Liberty Park diamond Monday night with the ADCO nine defeating Western Auto 21-14, and McCowns downing the Browns 27-15.

The first game got under way at 6 p.m. between ADCO and Western Auto. ADCO winning pitcher Griggs allowed six hits and 13 walks. Garrison, the losing pitcher, allowed six hits and 15 walks.

McCowns met the Browns at 8 p.m. Winning pitcher Schotts allowed 11 hits and 18 walks. Grinstead, the loser, allowed 15 hits and 11 walks.

As a result of Monday night's play, ADCO has a score of 2-2. Western Auto 4-0. McCowns 2-1 and Browns 1-3.

There will be two games Wednesday night at Liberty Park. Anderson meets the Browns at 6 p.m. and McCowns meets the Phillips 66 team at 8 p.m.

Must Explain Opposition To Segregation

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana State University's president and deans must explain to the Louisiana House of Representatives tomorrow why 59 faculty members oppose segregation in public schools.

The House by a 70-0 vote last night demanded the public hearing because the 59 were among 600 who signed a Louisiana Civil Liberties Union petition opposing the joint legislative segregation committee's plan to close schools threatened with racial integration. Two LSU professors appeared before the House Education Committee earlier in the day to protest the eight segregation bills before they were approved by the committee. The bills would authorize the governor to close any public schools ordered to integrate, provide for continued pay for school personnel, provide a system of education expense grants to children attending private schools set up as education cooperatives by parents and prohibit local school boards from approving budgets for racially mixed schools. They also set up a pupil assignment law patterned after the Alabama law upheld recently by a three-judge federal court, provide malfeasance charges against any school official guilty of efforts to bring about integration and eliminate a section of the state constitution held unconstitutional in the New Orleans school segregation case, in an effort to offset federal court rulings. The House directed LSU President Troy Middleton to bring the college deans to the hearing. In a resolution, representatives said they were "entitled to know how far reaching such activities are with respect to the LSU faculty and administration."

One member of the State Segregation Committee, Rep. Ford Stinson, said he favored holding up the LSU budget for next year until "this mess is straightened out."

Waldo F. McNeir, LSU English professor, and Dr. Charles Reynard, law professor, protested the bills before the education group. Under questioning, McNeir admitted: "Yes, I'm in favor of integration."

Reynard, who teaches constitutional law, was asked, "Are you for integration?" He replied he didn't say that, "but I am for the supreme law of the land."

Tex Varner Now Faces New Charge of Being An Habitual Criminal

CALIFORNIA, Mo. (AP)—Victor I. (Tex) Varner, acquitted of one murder charge and facing another, also is confronted now with a charge he is an habitual criminal.

Prosecutor Leroy Snodgrass filed the new accusation in Circuit Court yesterday. Varner is to be tried June 23 on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of a 15-year-old stablehand, Larry Dale Irwin.

Irwin and the man he worked for, Edwin Boyson, were shot to death in an ambush near Osage Beach, Mo., while inspecting a fence between Boyson's riding stable and Varner's. They were business rivals.

A Cole County jury at Jefferson City cleared Varner of Boyson's slaying April 4. The case was moved there on a change of venue.

East Germans May Hold Crew as Spies

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists hinted today that nine U.S. Army men arrested after their helicopter made a forced landing behind the Iron Curtain might be treated as spies.

The East German army newspaper Die Volksarmee said that Maj. James R. Zeller, Mount Joy, Pa., "and his inquisitive team have learned we... will not tolerate that our borders be overflown boldly to carry on espionage."

American officials say the U.S. helicopter, belonging to the 3rd Armored Division in West Germany, got lost in a thunderstorm Saturday and ran out of fuel.

Three Missing After Explosion Guts House

TORONTO (AP)—Two men and a woman were listed as missing today after an explosion blew a 40-foot gash in their four-story apartment house in Toronto's North End.

Authorities said they had no idea what caused the blast which damaged the 30-year-old, 34-apartment brick building. The blast apparently originated in the vicinity of a basement boiler.

Police were investigating the possibility of a bomb. One officer said it was mysterious that the full force of the blast was all in one direction.

Several Flood Control Projects Allowed Cash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Missouri flood control projects for which no recommendations were made in President Eisenhower's budget were allowed money yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee provided $1,700,000 for work on the St. Louis flood protection project in the fiscal year starting July 1, but turned down requests for start of work on a Mississippi River dam north of St. Louis at Chain of Rocks and for a flood control survey of the Meramec River basin.

Two and a half million was provided for northwest Missouri agricultural levees on the Missouri River; $750,000 for the Fabius River drainage district; $300,000 for Bear Creek Reservoir construction; $150,000 for Stockton Reservoir planning; $30,000 for Joanna Reservoir planning; $30,000 for Kasinger Bluff Reservoir planning; plus two general items of $20,000 for Sandy Slough and $15,000 for Salt River to finance surveys of possible projects.

Another $250,000 was added to start construction of the New Madrid gloodgate project.

Employees Sentenced

Pennsylvania Turnpike Free Of 1957 Financial Quagmire

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania Turnpike officials feel they are at last on safe financial ground — free from the quagmire of scandal which a year ago threatened to swallow up the 440-million-dollar toll road operation.

Commissioners of the 471-mile superhighway said today bondholders have almost forgotten the 19½ - million - dollar conspiracy which Gov. George M. Leader described as "one of the greatest public swindles of all time."

Thursday five men — two of them former turnpike commissioners and another a top turnpike employee—were sentenced to jail terms ranging from 10 months to five years for their part in the conspiracy. All are free pending appeals to the State Superior Court.

"We now are about ready to complete our reorganization which will make it impossible for such a thing to happen again," said Acting Commission Chairman Joseph J. Lawler.

"Our securities are as good as government securities now. . . . We don't have to worry any more."

Three years ago national publications and trade magazines were telling the story of a 40-year-old Reading, Pa., engineer Charles W. Stickler Jr.

He boasted that his Manu-Mine Research and Development Co. had parlayed a $4,500 capital stock investment into a multimillion-dollar enterprise in a few years.

Stickler's uncle Thomas J. Evans then was chairman of the Turnpike Commission. Manu-Mine had a big contract to fill abandoned mines under the roadbed of the turnpike extension being built into northeastern Pennsylvania, near Scranton.

Then state officials received an anonymous letter. Its author identified himself only as a truck driver and told how he had been instructed to dump material ostensibly intended for the mine-filling project.

State investigators probed deep into the Manu-Mine contract. They said they found:

That the mine - filling project was "made-work" and the contract was awarded without bids.

That what filling was needed could have been done for less than $50,000 instead of the 19½ million dollars provided in the contract.

That the commission was charged for thousands of borings that never were drilled or that were not deep enough to carry the filler into the mines.

That thousands of tons of sand and silt were dumped into rivers, along highways and even in a cemetery, rather than in the old mines.

The contract, awarded in early 1955, was canceled the latter part of 1956. The state claims that up to that time more than six million dollars had been paid for the work.

Besides the five sentenced Thursday, another two dozen persons—including another former commission chairman—were indicted on lesser charges by a special grand jury. Some of the charges were not related to the Manu-Mine work.

Some already have been convicted and have served their jail sentences.

Stickler; Evans; James F. Torrance, former commissioner; Paul J. McNeill, former commission chief finance officer; and Clayton A. Landside, former general manager and vice president of Manu-Mine, appeared in Dauphin County Court for their sentences.

Stickler received the stiffest sentence, two years for conspiracy and five years for false pretenses, to run concurrently. Evans was sentenced to an aggregate three to four years for conspiracy and misconduct in office.

Two women shot in St. Louis Bar

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two women were shot to death in a downtown St. Louis bar yesterday by a man who had bought them drinks just a few minutes before, police said.

The women were Mrs. Jo Ann Yates, 22, a divorcee, who had two young children, and Mrs. Virginia Haney, 29, mother of a young daughter. Mrs. Haney's husband is in the Army overseas.

The killer was still sought by St. Louis police.

A barmaid at Bonnie's Bar, Mrs. Earnestine Yandell, said the women had been sitting in the back of the tavern when the man entered.

He sat down at their table, ordered drinks and talked with them.

After about 20 minutes, Mrs. Yandell said, he drew a gun, shot one woman at the table and shot the other as she ran for the front door.

The killer then ran out the front door and disappeared.

To Replace Dr. Hobbs

New Minister Begins Duty As First Methodist Pastor

The Rev. Roy B. Stribling, new pastor of the First Methodist Church, his wife and two children, Tom, 17, a freshman in college this fall and Paula Lou, 11 years old who is in the seventh grade, have moved to Sedalia where he has assumed the pastorate of the church. The family came here from Lamar where he had been for one year and thought he would continue there, but the retirement of Dr. Elmer Lee Hobbs brought him the assignment to Sedalia at the Methodist Conference June 1.

The Striblings have two other children, a son, Jerry Dean, who is married and has two children and is an engineer for the Goodyear Rubber Co. at Akron, O., and Peggy Sue, who is Mrs. Joe Johnson, the mother of three children and who resides at Riverside, Calif.

The son of a Methodist minister who preached for 40 years and died four years ago, Rev. Stribling felt the call to the ministry when he was about 16 years old but somehow didn't carry through with his desire. He didn't even complete his high school education. Instead, he went into the bakery business.

A native of Springfield, he was a business man there for 12 years, owning his bakery. He was married to Pauline McFadden from Conway, Mo. They were the parents of three children and he was 28 years old when he made the decision to go into the ministry. It wasn't an easy thing to do, with a wife and three children and ten years of schooling ahead of him, but he sold his bakery and helped him get through school, and helped 17 other students, too. When he was attending Asbury College, he saw the need for a doughnut shop, so he opened one up. He even shipped doughnuts to another town and employed 17 other students in his thriving business. When he finished his schooling there, he sold the doughnut shop.
